

4/5

p.389

Jake, will you pick up the groceries?

Jake will pick up the groceries.

For instance, Sophie, they actually are ready.

p.390

compare (two things)

super (over all)

comparative (two things)

superlative (more than two)

more > comparative
less >

most > superlative
least >

Nashville, Knoxville, and Madison

Nashville, TN; Knoxville, TN; and Goodlettsville TN.

4/5

p.389

Jake, will you pick up the groceries?

Jake will pick up the groceries.

For instance, Sophie, they actually are ready.

p.390

compare (two things)

super (over all)

comparative (two things)

superlative (more than two)

more > comparative
less >

most > superlative
least >

Nashville, Knoxville, and Madison

Nashville, TN; Knoxville, TN; and Goodlettsville TN.

p 398

sub
for conj
+it, and, or

The sky was growing cloudy ; it was grey and threatening

COMPOUND-COMPLEX

dep. clause

Because ~~the~~ Bart ate the food we had to go to the store, and we bought more groceries.

ⓐ

We saw the storms ^{clouds} approaching ; they were making

doj

SS

DP

LV

PA

PP

SS

The weather (on TV) was wrong ; well, at least I / opt to stay home!

ⓑ